CENTRAL SCIENCE LIBRARY

ABOUT LIBRARY

The emergence of Central Science Library (CSL) dates back to 1981 prior to that, it was a part of Central Reference Library (CRL), Delhi. However, the need to have a separate Science Library was shown much earlier by Carl M. White in 1966 who recommended "that a Science Library be created to serve the departments, which consist of Faculty of Science and that the collection now maintained by these departments and related material in the main library be used to form the nucleus of the new library. A Science Librarian of outstanding ability be employed to take charge of it and that a new building be erected to house the library".

With the growth of the University, the membership of Central Library was also increasing continuously, as a result in due course of time with increasing membership and their changing information needs, it became inconvenient for Central Library to serve the users, belonging to the faculty of science effectively. So CSL was separated from CRL and housed in a separate building to serve members of science faculty. The three-storied building having a carpet area of 22,595 sq. feet with a sitting capacity of 185 seats started functioning independently with effect from 8th April 1981. The administration of CSL is under the Dean of the faculty of science.

LIBRARY BUILDING

The Central Science Library is situated in the vicinity of Science Departments viz Anthropology, Botany, Zoology, Physics, Chemistry, Geology, Environmental Biology and others. The three storeyed library building in red stone and concrete is located in beautiful surroundings of parks, flowers and ornamental trees amidst various science faculties. It is just opposite to and very near to Delhi University Computer Centre. Hence it would always facilitate in its modernization.

It has a total carpet area of 22,595 sq feet and it offers a congenial environment for study and research. The total capacity of the library is about 185 seats with reading halls on 1st and 2nd floors. The library has been organized as follows:-

Ground Floor

The ground floor of the library has the Incharge Room, Issue/Return Counter, Membership, Internet Access Facility, Public Catalogue, Acquisitions Section, Processing Section, textbooks collection and the Reference desk.

First Floor

The first floor of the library has the Periodicals Section. It has three stack areas and display of new journals and a reading room where current issues are arranged subject wise. The photocopy facility is also available on this floor. The 1st stack has been completely renovated into Internet Access Facility, reading room and technical services department. The 2nd stack hall hold back volumes of journals in Physical, Chemical, Mathematical and Natural Sciences.

Second Floor

The 3rd stack hall contains books and journals published before 1970, A/Cs & establishment & binding section.

SERVICES PROVIDED BY CSL

Library is essentially a service organisation to cater to information needs of its users. CSL acquires the documents, processes and organizes them on the shelves for purposeful utilization of its resources and provides various useful services to its users. The various services provide by the library are given below

CIRCULATION

It is one of the most popular services of the library .It is also called lending service as books are lent or issued to the users by circulation section according to users entitlement. Library is using a Brown Charging System for charging and discharging of books. The general books and journals can be accessed through open access while textbooks are in close access and are issued for 3 days only. On an average 250 books issued and about 600 books are given for consultation against I-Card per day.

➤ BOOKS RESERVATION

When a particular book required by any user is already issued out, then issue and return counter staff writes down the name of the user and details of that book in a register maintained by them (very shortly such reservation will be undertaken online). When a reserved book is returned back, then if that book belongs to “only for consultation” category then it is retained by 1 day for the user who has reserved it. If the book belongs to “Text Book Section” it is retained till the next day and if the book belongs to “General Category” then it is retained for 3 days.

➤ RENEWAL/REISSUE

Any book may be renewed/reissued on its due date provided, it is not reserved by any other user or it is in heavy demand.

➤ BOOK BORROWING SYSTEM

On each occasion the book is borrowed, a library ticket is to be given at the Issue Counter and the Identity Card is to be shown. The Library ticket shall be generally restored to the members, when the book is returned, but the library ticket may be retained by the library staff, if any problem is detected at the time of return of the book, to be discharged only when the case settles.

➤ CONDITIONS OF LOAN

Reference books, rare books periodicals (loose issue and bound volumes) and such other reading materials as marked ‘Not to be Issued’, ‘For Consultation Only’ shall not be issued out on loan except with the special permission of the Librarian-In-Charge, Science Library.

Books on loan with members can be recalled by the ‘Librarian In-Charge’ at any time without assigning any reason thereof.

➤ INTER LIBRARY LOAN (ILL)

No library is self-sufficient today on account of ever increasing such information needs of research scholars and ongoing multi disciplinary research being conducted in the university. So when the required documents are not available in the collection of respective library, ILL facility is used to acquire documents from some other library, for the purpose of use and consultation by its scholars and teachers. Library on receiving written request from its members, arrange for its ILL by sending requisition to the particular library. Similarly CSL also lends documents to other libraries on ILL.

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL SERVICE

Such services provided to Faculty Teachers and Research Scholars selectively on demand both manually and online from e-Journals.

DISPLAY OF LATEST BOOKS AND JOURNALS

Display of books and journals is a regular feature of the CSL, which keeps the users aware of the latest literature, and the development taking place in their fields of specialization. Latest issues of journals are being displayed alphabetically by the titles under broad subjects in the periodicals department. Books are displayed in the ground floor which is replaced by a new lot of books on a fortnight basis. CSL also sends some selected journals for display for 10 to 15 days to South Campus Library.

REFERENCE SERVICE

CSL has a provision for reference services. The users who approach the library with a reference query are provided with the required information or source of information. For document tracing facility, which is a part of reference, library maintains a register where users fill the information about the document to be traced such as a Call Number, name of the author and title etc. Usually library takes a few hours to trace the document. CSL staff has lot of information skill both online and manually to provide suitable reference service to users.

PHOTOCOPYING SERVICE

CSL has the provision of photocopying services through commercial photocopying service available to the users started in the year 1998 when CSL was finding it difficult to meet the user's demand. The demand of photocopying is very heavy and during the last financial year approximately 3.2 lakh pages from various journals and books have been photocopied. The CSL has enrolled with "Indian Institute of Science, Bangalore" for providing photocopy of articles from journals, which are available there on payment basis.

COMPUTERISATION

CSL library has ___ Personal Computers installed, and the computerization process of the library is in progress. The library is using Troodon software. Prior to Troodon, the CDS/ISIS software was used in acquisitions and cataloguing section. The computerization for the documents acquired from the year 1994 onwards is being done on a regular basis and the retrospective computerization is in progress. The CSL is actively engaged in rendering e-resource availability through its website csl.du.ac.in on intranet.

INTERNET

The library is having Internet connectivity through availability of Campus Wide Networking and the facility is available to all science stream clientele. All Internet services like E-mail, browsing, and downloading are open to all the users. In some cases printouts of articles are also provided. Presently more than 62 databases and online journals from various publishers are available through IAF. A list of such online journals is on Delhi University Website under <http://csl.du.ac.in>, <http://du.ac.in>.

E-mail

The library is taking advantage of e-mail services in day-to-day correspondence with the publishers, hence curtailing expenditure on foreign postage. Articles on request are sent or received through e-mail attachments.

Consultation Facility

➤ External Users

The university being central in character has provision to allow scholars of other universities to consult library resources free of cost. As a result more than 9,490 research scholars and teachers from universities like Agra, Indore, Meerut, Gorakhpur, Patna, Jaipur, Jodhpur, Chandigarh, Jammu, Punjab, Roorkee, Pune etc have consulted the library and a number of scientists and researchers from IIT, NPL, DESIDOC, INSA etc. Also regularly visited and consulted the library. A normal fee of Rs.100 per month is made effective from the year 2008-09.

➤ CSL MEMBERS CONSULTING OTHER LIBRARIES

In 2008-2009 more than 430 research scholars received the letter for permission from CSL for consultation and photocopying facilities from different libraries namely IIT, NPL, DESIDOC, INSA, CBT, IARI and NML. This facility provided by CSL results in avoiding duplication of journals and books and most of researchers prefer to go and consult other libraries themselves.

59. Women's History (DU Subscription)

In the late 1800's, Dutch physician and feminist Aletta Jacobs and her husband C.V. Gerritsen began collecting books, pamphlets and periodicals reflecting the evolution of a feminist consciousness and the movement for women's rights. By the time their successors finished their work in 1945, the Gerritsen Collection was the greatest single source for the study of women's history in the world, with materials spanning four centuries and 15 languages.

The broad scope of the collection allows scholars to trace the evolution of feminism within a single country, as well as the impact of one country's movement on those of the others. In many cases, it also provides easy access to primary sources otherwise available only in a few rare book rooms.

The Gerritsen Collection of Aletta H. Jacobs consists of two segments: the Periodical Series and the Monograph Language Series.

Periodicals constitute 25 percent of the entire collection. For the years from 1860 through 1900, the period covered by most of the titles, there is no comparable resource.

There are over 4,000 monographs and pamphlets, comprising 75 percent of the titles.
